The "Old Timers" held their biweekly dance at the K. C. hall last Eriday evening. As usual, a pleasant time was enjoyed. One nice feature of the evening was pulled off after supper had been served when J. L. Miner was presented with a handsome rocking chair by the club as a token of appreciation for his services as "official caller" or rather prompter, during the past season and also to aid in reminding him that he was celebrating a birthday anniversary. Mr. Miner is usually not at a loss to say something when the occasion arises but this time he was "stumped."

Bert Mosher will offer to the theatre going public of Carroll one of the events of the sesson "The Lonesome Pine." at the Opera House Friday, January 12, with the young successful player, Roy La Marr, as the star. This is a story that will appeal to every man, woman and child; in fact it will teach a good lesson to all. The stars of the play are surrounded by a cast of clever players. The company carries beautiful scenery and effects, so as to make this wonderful play one of the successes of the season in your city. The story of the play is founded around a young girl, who unknown to her, reforms her own brother from a criminal. Love finds its way into both their hearts and their relationship is not discovered until the eve of the happiest moments of their lives-their wedding night. Everything is carried with the company to present it in a first-class way. Every one who is in love, should never miss seeing "The Lonesome Pine."

The Citisens' Club met in regular session Tuesday evening. The meeting was one for the annual election of officers and the following were elected: Taylor Guy, president; J. A. Dougherty, secretary; J. C. Arts. treasurer. A. Docius was re-elected The attendance was not large owing to the bad weather. A review of the work of the past year proved interesting and very satisfactory to the members present. It was suggested to change the name of the organization to "Commercial Club" and this seemed to meet with the aproval of the members present. We heartily agree in this and believe it should be done. Bert Mosher will present "The Lonesome Pine" at the Opera House with the successful young player Roy La Marr. The story of the play is founded around a young man whose ambition in life from childhood is to become a desperado. His years of wishing for such a life is granted, but only to find himself in the lowest depths of crime and disgrace. A young school teacher comes into his life, who afterwards is discovered to be his own sister. Here is where she proves what love and a girl can do. By her sweet ways and smiles, she leads him from the cowardly life he craved to enter into better paths. The company carries everything to present this play as it is promised. An evening watching "The Lonesome Pine" will never be forgotten.

Rose Langenfelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Langenfelt, and John Slepker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Siepker, were married at SS, Peter and Paul's church, Wednesday morning, Rev. Kuemper officiating. The bride was most becomingly gowned in white messiline and was accompanied by her cousin of Templeton. Miss Sadie Eich, who wore pink taffeta. The groom was attended by his brother, Louie. During the afternoon a reception to relatives and a few friends was held at the home of tne groom's parents. This estimable young couple, who were reared in this vicinity, will go to house keeping on a farm two miles north of town where the best wishes of a host of friends go with them. Tuesday evening a dance was given at the K. C. hall for the young friends of the happy couple.

We noticed one of the delivery boys for one of the local stores the other morning wade through about two feet of snow, from the street to the sidewalk, before he reached any part that had been shoveled and the Grocers: H. Scharnw'er..218 157 208 583 thought struck us that it wouldn't be a bad idea for our citizens to shovel the snow so that the delivery men can get to the house without having to attach a snow plow. During the recent cold weather the delivery men have had a hard enough time of it, goodness knows, and it would only take you a minute to shovel a path so that you can have your goods delivered without the deliveryman having to fight his way through the drifts. Why not try this stunt and see how much more pleasant you can make it these cold days for the man who delivers your purchases.

Death of Mrs. John Staak Tuesday morning the community was shocked on hearing of the death of Mrs. John Staak. While it was known that she was seriously ill at he was representative from this the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hodge, where she came from St. Joseph's hospital Sioux City, December seventeenth, after having undergone an operation two weeks before: it was hoped that the loving care and medical skill of the citizens and tax payers of the could conquer the ill. but 'twas not to be. Everything that could be was done to alleriate the suffering but Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock the angel of death decended and took her home. The end came as peacefully and quietly as a benediction to this young life that was so full of promised joy.

Lillian Hodge was born in London, England, June 1st, 1881. When eight years old she came with the family to America, living for two years in Atlantic, Iowa, then coming to Carroll, where she lived until seven years ago last October when she was married to John Staak, a Carroll boy, but in business at Sioux Rapids, where they have since resided. To this union was born one daughter, Irene, who is now four years old. Mrs. Staak was a gradnate of the Carroll High School and had taken a nurses training before she was married, thus fitting herself for one of the noblest vocations of womanhood. Besides her heartbroken husband and little daughter. the deceased leaves her parents and sister, Miss Aimee, of this city.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to these relatives and haps some people in such communithe friends in this their saddest hour. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock | handy and there are not many formthis morning from St, Joseph's church, of which the deceased was a most devoted member. C. C. Colclo, County Treasurer

On Tuesday afternoon the board cancy caused by the death of Wm. They report these former believe that Mr. Colclo will prove solutely honest. While Mr. Colclo in years past has held sveeral offices for the county, this is really the first one which is really worth while from every standpoint. When he was county superintendent the salary was only $3 per day and out of this he had to pay his own expenses. Ther county 3 terms and at a time when the salary would barely cover expenses. He has proved a good man in every position that he has held and we believe that his appointment will meet with the general approva county. He will be sworn in and take up his new duties Monday of next week.

Has Wrong Effect

Waterville, Me. Sentinel: Under the various guises of statewide pro hibition, county prohibition and district prohibition, sumptuary laws have had a pretty wide sweep in this country.

"More territory is 'dry' today than ever before. "Yet the statistics put out by the federal census bureau show that as a whole this country is drinking nore than it ever did before. "Worse still, they show a relatively larger gain in consumption of ardent spirits than they do in the consumption of milder beverages beer and wine.

'This, it 'is to be feared, is the chief effect of prohibition; and it is an effect that is exceedingly evil in its consequences.

"Experience has shown that where public sentiment is overwhelmingly against the liquor traffic, as it is in many rural communities, prohibi tion is reasonably effective, Perties still drink, but drink is not ing the habit-unless they go outside these communities to do it.

"But experience has also shown that where public sentiment is not overwhelmingly against the liquor traffic where prohibition is adopted by a scant majority, it seldom is effective except in had ways. One of these bad ways is the substitution of bad whiskey for mild beer and
